

COUNTING

This Read Together Kit contains stories that are fun to share with one or many children. Combine these stories with any of the suggested songs and rhymes to create a counting-themed storytime.

Titles in this kit include:

Toddler and older:

- Grandma's Tiny House by JaNay Brown-Wood
- Juanito Counts to Ten: a Bilingual Counting Book/Johnny cuenta hasta diez by Lee Merrill Byrd
- My First Bilingual Book: Numbers (Farsi-English)
- Ten, Nine, Eight by Molly Bang

Preschool and older:

- Baby Goes to Market by Atinuke
- Counting on Community by Innosanto Nagara
- Just a Minute by Yuyi Morales

Early Learning Ideas:

- Being able to count fingers, steps, or even bounces is a great first step to introducing numbers to your child. As your child gets older, you can introduce what each number looks like when written out.
- Try incorporating other math concepts into daily activities such as eating and dressing.
More and less: Ask which bowl has more or less of something
Large and small: Ask which is bigger, your sock or your shirt?
Long and short: check to see whose hair is longer, or which toy is shorter
- Introduce the idea of sorting and grouping items, which are also early math skills. Try to find fruits and vegetables in the produce department that are the same color, or a similar shape. You can also identify what items in your pantry are the same or different.
